

"BOOK LAUNCH"

... a poem by Sharon Hicks

Two Upper Sackville "farmer gals"
Who moved to various locales...
Felt strong connection to our past,
And interest in the history vast.

We researched, and we wrote and drew,
To compile this book we bring to you...
Two Grandmas of a "certain age"...
We packed a lot into every page.

An artist is what I've always been,
Depicting many things I've seen...
This project brought a different twist~
A challenge I could not resist!

My part was to try and show
Some buildings from so long ago
No photos could be found for most~
T'was a bit like resurrecting a ghost!

We invite you now to make your way
Through the folding doors to the big display
Of books, and a bit of artwork too,
With tea to sip and sweets to chew.

We thank you all for coming today,
And thank the folks who had words to say...
So, with speeches made, and stories spun~
I now declare this launch is done!

HAPPY READING, EVERYONE!
